FAMOUS PIANIST TO APPEAR SOON IN AUDITORIUM

JOSEF LHEVINNE IN LYCEUM
CONCERT OCT. 24; OTHER
PLANS UNDER WAY

Climaxing musical activity on the campus during the fall term will be the appearance of the world-famous pianist, Josef Lhevinne, in a lyceum concert on October 24, according to announcement made by Miss Hayes, chairman of the lyceum committee.

Music-lovers of the Northwest will be accorded an unusual treat in having the opportunity to listen to the outstanding pianist of the modern school, who has played on three continents before millions of people. Miss Hayes in commenting on his forthcoming appearance in the College auditorium stated that Lhevinne in his class ranks of a calibre to equal that of the United States Army Band and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, both of which have appeared in past years.

Gifted with amazingly large and agile hands, Lhevinne from early childhood in Moscow seemed destined for a musical career. Uncanny skill on the old square pianoforte, coupled with a consuming desire to play, held him in stead through a long career to fame and distinction. Advance information promises a varied and entertaining program of classic and folk tunes.

Negotiations are still under way on the completion of the 1932 lyceum program. The complete schedule for the year, Miss Hayes states, will be available in a short time. Particular pains are being taken this year to satisfy most of the various artistic tastes.

HEADS SELECTED FOR MYSTIC STAFF

HAZEL DEAL TO FILL VACANCY
ELIANOR SHERMAN

Headed by Axel Taffin, a Senior chosen last spring as a result of tryouts before the publications board, the Western MYSTIC staff is almost complete at this writing. Hazel Deal, also a Senior, was chosen by the board as associate editor to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Elianor Sherman, who will teach this year. Miss Deal has had work in journalism classes and has been a contributor to the MYSTIC.

Three sectional editors have been named by Mr. Taffin, after conference with the adviser, Mr. Murray, and with Gorman Thompson, student business manager of publications: Thelma Nelson, academic editor, to have charge of Wednesday chapel news, Library news, Training School news, and all material of similar nature; Dorothy Gundersen, society editor, this to include all organizations on the campus; and Clara Undseth, alumni editor. Miss Undseth is thoroughly familiar with alumni activities, and it is felt that she will put new life into this section of the paper.

There are yet to be named a sports editor, and perhaps one or two more sectional heads. These people will not write articles as a general rule, but will supervise the reporters who have assignments in their fields and check all copy.

Sydney Kurtz, Adele Jensen, and Helen Kiland are carried on the staff as special contributors. There are twelve in the Journalism class, their names being given in the masthead.

To fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Ralph Johnson, who has been named to the position of assistant weather observer at St. Cloud, Lyman Bringgold was chosen advertising manager by the board. Leonard Larson has been chosen by Mr. Weltzin as print shop assistant. The Campus Press of Fargo was low in bids for linotyping work, and was awarded the contract. The paper is printed in the College Print Shop under the supervision of Mr. Weltzin.

Faculty Members And Wives Frolic At Picnic Dinner

In spite of the fact that President MacLean's cottage on Pelican Lake is quite a distance to go to dinner, sixty-three faculty members and wives decided to make the trip last Saturday.

It was a glorious day; a good crowd, most of the sixty-three, had arrived—in fact all but the four who had the food, and they had left Moorhead first. Where were they? Perhaps, to keep up the traditions of the faculty picnic, they got lost.

The hour was twelve. Many played quoits or ball to keep their minds off the hour of day. The rest never heard an account of the scores, because the lost car arrived. No sooner had the car arrived than a call was heard, 'Soups on,' and everyone was happy.

How did the perfect day end? Some played more quoits, some went boat-riding, some for a swim but Dr. Locke went fishing alone.

SOCIAL FRATERNITY FORMED ON CAMPUS

With a nucleus of 14 members, a new men's social fraternity, the Alpha Epsilon, made its debut on the M. S. T. C. campus this week. The organization was approved by the Student Commission. Jack Bridges is president of the group and Mr. Schwendeman is adviser.

The list of charter members is as follows: Julien Bjerkness, Axel Taffin, Elmer Stanghelle, Lyman Bringgold, Carl Maedl, James Bridges, Arthur Skjonsby, Jules Herman, Lawrence Norin, Raymond Novak, James Tye, Charles Jahr, Cecil Veitch, and Jack Bridges.

The organization is the second fraternity on the campus, and the first to be established since the founding of the Owl fraternity 31 years ago. The constitution adopted by the new group declares the purpose of the fraternity is to be social, and its aim to further the fraternal feelings amongst the several members.

In common with other similar organizations at the College, the Alpha Epsilon will participate in rushing during the winter and spring terms.

Veitch Temporarily Discontinues His Work

Cecil Veitch, elected publicity commissioner last spring, has been forced by eye trouble to discontinue his education at the College for a time.

Mr. Veitch was under the care of one of the finest optical surgeons during the month of August.

H. L. McCracken, NOTED EDUCATOR, TO SPEAK HERE

EICHELBERGER GETS RESPONSE
FROM LARGE AUDIENCES
HERE WEDNESDAY

On October 3, H. L. McCracken, Ph. D., noted author, educator and lecturer will address students and faculty of the College at the Wednesday chapel. Dr. McCracken is at present lecturer in economics at the University of Minnesota, and appears here under the auspices of the General Extension Division. Before coming to Minnesota, he was President of Penn College. He is recommended as a public speaker of unusual ability.

Dr. Clark Eichelberger, secretary of The League of Nations association, in his lecture at last Wednesday's Chapel, discussed the crises which confront the world today. In his opinion, the three greatest problems are: the world financial situation, the disarmament question, and the crisis in the Far East, or the controversy between China and Japan.

With regard to the first, Dr. Eichelberger said that the World Economic Conference will meet in London this winter. The remedy, he said, for the present situation, lies in the lowering of barriers of trade and the abolition of economic nationalism.

He further stated that the success or failure of the Disarmament Conference, which will hold its second meeting this winter, will influence greatly the financial situation. Obstacles to the success of the Disarmament Conference are the uncertainty of public opinion, and the difficulty between France and Germany.

The greatest danger, however, facing the world today is the lack of leadership. Mr. Eichelberger made an appeal to the students, urging them to prepare themselves to become able leaders, such as are needed to solve these and other world problems.

The Chapel Choir, appearing in their conventional crimson and white robes, and directed by Mr. Preston, sang "Build Thee More Stately Mansions, O My Soul."

Heidlebaugh, Gibb To Be Sports Captains

Plans for the fall sports program were discussed at the first meeting of the Women's Athletic League held Thursday afternoon. Soccer, swimming and hockey for all women of the College are sponsored by the League on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday respectively. A practice period during which the game will be taught to Freshmen, will be held for a half hour, after which teams formed from the squad will play scheduled games. Only those women having a "B" physical rating are eligible for these sports.

Sports captains for soccer and hockey are Ruby Heidlebaugh and Jeanie Gibb. A captain for swimming will be appointed by the Women's Athletic Board in the near future.

Clever Campus Character Completes Detailed Description Depicting Debris

The gayly painted roadster slid to a grinding halt. Immediately from the rear rumble a chorus of indignant voices issued. The driver with a resigned air informed his companions that the sign immediately in front of the gallant roadster prohibited their entrance.

At the crucial moment a self-possessed young man came sauntering toward them. With his quick detective's eye, he noticed the strange car.

As he came nearer the roadster, he was greeted by a volley of questions. In the inquiries for enlightenment came "Why the sign, 'No Cars Allowed?'" "Must have been some storm to blow all these trees down."

The obliging young man flung out his hand toward the upheaval which had

DRAGON FOOTBALL SQUAD ENTRAINS FOR TILT WITH SIOUX THIS EVENING

Probable Starting Lineup Includes Veterans In All Positions Except Quarterback Post; Pep Squad and Band to Accompany The Team

After sharpening up and putting the final polish on the claws of the 1932 Dragon football machine, Coach Nemzek and a fiery crew of 27 husky Dragons entrained this morning for a night raid on the encampment of the Sioux warriors of North Dakota University at Grand Forks. Accompanying the invading expedition were the College Band and members of the Pep Squad.

The probable starting lineup for the game, as announced by Coach Nemzek, is as follows: Booher and

THREE CLASSES ELECT OFFICES

SOPHOMORES APPOINT NOMINATING COMMITTEE TO NAME
CANDIDATES

Under the direction of Sydney Kurtz, pep commissioner, the Pep Squad will take charge of the assembly this morning, the exact nature of the program being a secret.

Lyman Bringgold, John C. Cox, and Ragnar Hanson were chosen presidents of the Senior, Junior, and Freshman classes respectively at meetings held following last Friday's assembly. The Sophomores decided to hold their election later.

Officers of the Senior class include Mr. Bringgold, Pine Island, president; Ward Thompson, Goodridge, vice-president; Elmer Stanghelle, Argyle, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Holmquist, adviser.

Beside Mr. Cox, Pine River, president, Wilson Dokken, Thief River Falls, vice-president, Elia Johnson, Brooks, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Schwendeman, adviser, make up the Junior staff.

The Sophomore class agreed to appoint a nominating committee which will report at a meeting to be held soon. The nominating committee consists of Edward Eastman Moorhead, chairman; Mable Sirr, Kennebec, S. D.; and Aileen O'Laughlin, Moorhead. The class adviser has not, as yet, been appointed.

Former Student Wins District Radio Contest

Robert Walls, B. E. '32, now teaching at East Grand Forks, won first place in the mens' division of the Atwater Kent radio contest for the ninth district at Crookston, Sunday night.

While a student at the College, Mr. Walls majored in music, being affiliated with the Double Male Quartet, the Band, and the Orchestra. Last year he won the state contest in North Dakota and later represented the state in the national contest at Chicago.

THELMA ERICKSON NOW TEACHING AT BELLINGHAM

Thelma Erickson, former Pep Commissioner, is now busy "pepping up" the third and fourth grade at Bellingham, Minnesota, having been elected to this teaching position during the latter part of the summer.

Boys Will Hold Open House At Dorm Shortly

Girls, dig out your smartest frock, clean your white gloves, dust off your best shoes, and prepare for the big event, Open House at the new Men's Dorm, the exact date to be announced later. This will be your chance to see how the other half live. For housed in the small brown building sitting so modestly and shyly (or should one say slyly) between Weld Hall and the Training school, are twenty-six men who will show you how entertaining is done in the grand manner.

To a great number of students it is hard to visualize how this former "playground", the old Students Exchange erected by alumni, students, and faculty in 1930, can be anything other than a grand place to dance or go for mail. But there it now stands harboring everything from thirteen double rooms for the boys, a small suite for Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, a parlor, and even a telephone, the number of which can be obtained by applying to Dr. Locke. Fearing a campus strewn with the unconscious and semi-conscious bodies of co-eds who have succumbed to curiosity, however, we hasten to add that the number is 6829.

THE TEACHING PERSONALITY

Let us stop in our race for pedagogical knowledge just long enough to ask ourselves what kind of personalities we are developing. Do you realize how important personality is to success?

One sometimes wonders if the nature of the teaching profession does not tend to form habits that rather set pedagogs apart as a class. Not useful habits, but little mannerisms that do not add to our attractiveness.

Ordinarily the educational vocation is looked upon with pride when its disciples are lined up against the wall of criticism—no need for shame there. It leads the march of progress and it does seem lamentable that here and there annoying traits will rear their heads. There is little doubt but that the profession labors against odds, but these obstacles can be overcome with the same spirit that greater obstacles have been surmounted by educators in the past. The modern school system with its varied interests and progressive outlook no doubt to some extent guarantees a progressive modern teacher. The teaching field, however, is rapidly losing its reputation for unprofessional followers. Doesn't it seem possible that the progress made is in some measure a matter of improved personality?

ANOTHER MILESTONE OF PROGRESS

The establishment of a new men's social fraternity on the Campus marks another milestone in the progress of a greater M. S. T. C., a need which has become increasingly evident as during the past few years.

In 1901, 31 years ago, a group of far-seeing students, visioning a splendid future for the College, started a social fraternity for men, the Owls. At that time one fraternity adequately provided for the social needs of the men, but time has changed all this. Today with our increased enrollment and widely varied interests, another fraternity is desirable and necessary. Last year the girls answered the challenge of the enlarged student body by creating two new sororities, making a total number of four, and now the boys, not to be outdone, shoulder their part of the responsibility.

The founders are to be congratulated upon choosing a most opportune time for the launching of this venture into the social life of the institution. The new College carries with it greater responsibilities for the upholding of old, and the fostering of new traditions; and this task can now be more adequately cared for.

From The Editor's Semicircle

The open column is conducted solely for the convenience of MiSTiC readers who wish to blow off steam, editorially. You are invited to use it too air your grievances, if you have any. On the other hand, if there is something you like very much, do not hesitate to say so.

This evening the 1932 Dragon football team makes its debut, meeting the strong N. D. U. aggregation. Though the boys may not win, we know they will cover themselves with honor and glory by putting up a good fight.

Mr. Uggan is doing a fine piece of work in whipping the Band into shape, and it will no doubt make a very creditable appearance at Grand Forks this evening.

The Pep Squad did not function as well, last year, as could have been desired, but this year, under the leadership of the new Pep Commissioner, Sydney Kurtz, there is reason to expect it to become a very active organization.

By this time registration difficulties have been ironed out, things have settled down to a routine, and students have nothing to do but look forward to six-weeks exams.

The increased enrollment this year is a result of the large influx of men. It is satisfying to note that the College is losing its reputation for being only a girls' school and becoming truly more co-educational.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

College students should, for their own well-being, limit their extra-curricular activities. I make this contention not because these various enterprises are harmful; not because they do not expand the students' horizon; nor because they will not be valuable in later life. The activities should be limited because they require too much time and effort; they prevent the student from specializing—and specialization is the one cardinal demand; and they, when overdone, keep the student from obtaining the full benefit from his college classes and social life.

I have known students who could have been veritable masters of music or athletics or forensics; but because they did not specialize, they became masters of nothing. I have known students who worked so hard and spent so much time on extra-curricular activities that they became only mediocre in the classroom. I have known those who lost the rich and deep social culture that comes from college life because they overworked on over-emphasized activities. Therefore, I feel that college men and women should limit their extra enterprises, because these activities require too great an amount of time and effort, and because they limit the student's accomplishment and enjoyment of college life.

EVERYONE SHOULD LEARN THREE SPORTS

There are many reasons why everyone should learn three different sports so well that he could play, discuss, or even coach them. It would be well for a teacher to know many more than three sports, because he will have plenty of opportunity to use the knowledge. Right here in the Moorhead State Teachers College everyone should have an understanding of the sports which make up most of the outside activity of the students—football, basketball, and hockey. Only a few will have a chance to participate actively in the sports as team members, but each of us will find the opportunity to support the teams. If we are to attend the games this year, we must have at least a faint idea of the game being played. Just think how much a student of losing if he comes to a football game, sees—with his eyes—a thrilling play, and can't get excited because he can't see the play with his brain.

The same thing happens in basketball and hockey. Unless one understands the sport, he gets no thrill from watching a game.

I suggest the three sports, football, basketball, and hockey, because they are of especial interest in this community. They are the three in which anyone can obtain information from fellow students or from reading material. I suggest that anyone who doesn't understand these three major sports start learning them now.

"For sale—one Chevrolet coach, in excellent condition, has been driven only one year. Prospective buyers should see Miss Maude Wenck, M. S. T. C., former owner."

Such is the ad which might have appeared in local papers had the car in question not been redeemed by one gallant Senior of the College. It seems that Miss Wenck, in Fargo on a shopping tour, was having a difficult time parking her car. Seeing a lovely open space beside the street, she drove up.

"Yes, just drive it back to the far side of the lot, behind those other cars," said the courteous attendant. Much relieved, Miss Wenck climbed out and proceeded merrily on her way.

On returning to the spot, imagine her chagrin on observing for the first time a flaming red sign, "Used Cars for Sale, Cheap." But good luck was hers. The M. S. T. Senior mentioned happened by and after much backing and struggling, finally extricated the worthy Chevrolet, and it now speeds merrily along, freed from the stigma of cast-off flivers.

Pupils At Oak Mound Edit A School Paper

"Oak Mound News" the new four-page hectographed paper edited by the pupils of the Oak Mound affiliated school reached the office today through the courtesy of Miss Bieri, member of Education department. The first copy was issued Friday, September 18, 1932.

Following are several items gleaned from the news: "There are four children in the beginning class. They are Lois Drake, Jean Orud, Bobby Gee, and Margry Sanger." "The lower grades have a new teacher. Her name is Mrs. Vera Byler Beil. She lives in Moorhead." "The Oak Mound Ladies Aid met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Milton Gee."

Other Schools Open

The College rural affiliated schools are in full session with the exception of the Koester school, which will not be ready for occupation until October 1.

The following is a directory of the students who are teaching this term: Lillian Shervey, Barrett, Oak Mound; Marie Miller, Brooten, Oak Mound; Irene Brekke, Twin Valley, Clearview; Helen Degerness, Gary, Clearview; Lillian Hanson, Karlstad, Clearview.

Miss Bieri, supervisor of the rural training schools and her assistant, Miss Corneliussen, visited at Oak Mound, Monday, September 19. Dr. Archer, Miss Bieri, and Miss Corneliussen spent Friday at the Koester district. Miss Corneliussen reports that the work on the building is coming along nicely.

Sophomore Is Called Home by Father's Death

The sincere sympathy of everyone connected with the College is extended to Helen Holloway, a Sophomore, formerly of Park Region, over the loss of her father, Mr. Herbert Holloway, Pelican Rapids, Minnesota, who died last Sunday after quite a long illness.

Born in 1864 at Ramsgate, England, he was a descendant of English nobility, his grandfather being Lord Holloway. The ancestral home is still standing in England, but the estate was broken up at the time of his grandfather's death.

Holloway had been active in public affairs, serving as assessor in Maplewood and a director of the Erhard Co-operative Creamery company many years.

MAKES PLANS FOR THE YEAR
That a mosaic from Florence, Italy may be in the possession of the Geography Council some time this year is the hope of its members. Other plans for the year consist of a tentative program featuring Dr. Atwood, president of Clark University, as speaker. The society also fosters the plan for joining the National Geography Fraternity, Gamma Theta Upsilon, and of sending a delegate to the National Council meeting, which meets in Washington, D. C., in December.

Arrangements are being completed for the initiation of new members recently elected to the Council.

TRAINING SCHOOL WORK ADDS NEW MUSIC FEATURES

INSTRUCTION GIVEN IN STRING
QUARTETTE, BAND, PIANO AND ORCHESTRA

The Training School work is under way with added features such as new classes of the Oxford piano course. Twice-a-week class and individual instructions will be given to all those who wish to avail themselves of it. It will be under the supervision of Miss Wenck, instructor in music at the College. Mr. Uggen, instructor in band at the College, assisted by Mr. Harlow Berquist, will give instruction in Training School orchestra and band. The String quartette will be under the direction of Mr. Berquist.

There was no question in the minds of L. Hoag nor C. Kirkevold as to whether the High School should have a paper or not. They got busy and put out an issue last week, "The Depression Extra" in an effort to continue "The Dragon's Eye" and get workers for it.

Miss Marion Cronin of the Minneapolis public schools, former assistant in physical education of the Training School, was a visitor on Friday.

The Kindergarten children are building a ship "Aquitania", the name of the well-known liner on which Mrs. Durboraw went to Europe. The kindergartners, too, are to "sail" on their voyage as soon as their boat has been completed.

The children of the first and second grades were pleased to find a new picture "Children of the Sea" by Blommers hung in their main room. The primary grades have at various times the past week visited Miss Dahl's flower garden.

Schwendeman Turns Itinerant Reporter To Describe "Impressions" of Europe

As the group of 14 persons toured through the various countries of Europe this summer in the annual trek sponsored by the Geography department of the College, J. R. Schwendeman, who conducted the tour, wrote lengthy and interesting letters back to his friends in Moorhead, giving a complete resume of all phases of the summer tour. The series of four descriptive letters will appear in an abbreviated form in the first two issues of the MiSTiC.

Interesting excerpts from the first two letters follow, retelling the trip from the time of departure on July 10, until the time of arrival in London:

"The trip to New York by auto was uneventful. No trouble was experienced. The huge skyscrapers of New York are no longer lighted at night, and we looked in vain for the famous New York skyline.

"As we set sail down New York harbor, a full moon on our left over Manhattan appeared to shine through rather than over the towering white structures with a soft indirect lighting effect that enhanced their massiveness and beauty in silhouette much more effectively than could have been done by their own lights. Only the glowing torch of the Statue of Liberty in New York Bay before us and the sweeping beacon of the Empire State Building broke the moonlit scene. On the pier at the waterfront hundreds of people were waving and shouting farewell—ahead of us lay the Atlantic. "The Aquitania is a 900-foot ship of 45,000 ton capacity. It is so huge that we cannot grasp its immensity on shipboard. A guide took us from stem to stern this morning. The ship is elegantly equipped. Such accessories as swimming pool, complete gymnasium, moving picture theater, make the ship appear more like a palatial hotel.

"The Atlantic has been so smooth that no seasickness has been experienced by the group. The weather is perfect. Last night the fog horns blared continuously as we encountered the fog bank which develops over the meeting point of the Labrador current and the Gulf Stream.

July 21—"We are proceeding through cold water now. The color has changed from the deep blue of the warm gulf stream to light green varying shades where the waves break. Yesterday the Atlantic was as calm as a Minnesota lake. We did not think it possible. The waves are breaking again today. The Aquitania is a fast ship. The Red Star Pennland left 24 hours ahead of us, and we passed her yesterday noon.

Prospects Bright For Baby Dragons

With a squad of fifteen ambitious youngsters turning out regularly for practice, Coach Chet Gilpin forecasts a strong eleven for the College High School. Making up for a somewhat slow start, Mr. Gilpin is pushing the Baby Dragons hard in drill and signal practice to polish off the rough spots in their play before the opening of their schedule.

As the MiSTiC goes to press, definite dates for the Baby Dragon season are not available. However, two games are assured with Hawley, one with Mahnomen, and any number of bouts with the Moorhead and Fargo reserves. Six lettermen headed by Harold Briggs, fleet-footed halfback, form the nucleus for the team. Vincent Oss, former guard, has been transferred to the backfield with considerable success, and Hugh Price, captain, will form a stable unit on the eleven. Others out are: Clifton Olson, Donald Boothroyd, Wayne Berthoff, Charles Kirkevold, Laurence Peterson, Maurice Martin, Raymond Grover, Ferdinand Elstad, Kenneth Engelstad, Floyd Maring, and Harold Bekkerus.

Northern Lights

The lines under "Sliv" Nemzik's eyes aren't the only ones that have something to do with the fast approaching old age.

Out on the Teachers field the strategist is faced with the alternative of getting some more class to his Dragon crowd or switching his schedule to high school competition.

But they say that to avoid the U. of N. Dakota traffic, he has added another trick to his bag. And, sister, this is important scandal if its true.

The dope is that the Nemzik team will shift from X to R formation.

And R formation, in case you get excited about it, is where two full backs, the split ends, and the half backs are in the holes, with the line balanced.

And that ought to help some.
